| Using Design Thinking to Build a Life You LoveMany of us want to be creative and often work to find creative outlets, but most people have yet to examine how to use the creative process purposefully. This course will focus on applying design thinking to harness our creativity and make it part of a process we can use to achieve important things and tackle challenges. Design thinking is-as discussed in the book Designing Your Life: How to Live a Well-Lived, Joyful Life-a method of solving difficult and complex problems through thinking creatively and testing ideas. We will focus on how to use design thinking to build possibilities for your future education, career, and life. | You Are What You Eat: Exploring Our Relationships with Food This course explores the complicated relationship between humans and their diet, using Michael Pollan's The Omnivore's Dilemma as a guide. In 21st century America, we have nearly limitless choices about what to eat. But those choices come with hidden costs. What we choose to eat affects everything from our personal physical and mental health to our communities to the global environment. Our diet may reflect deeply held ethical or religious beliefs. It may indicate our economic status or our cultural background. Or it may represent a mindful choice designed to fuel a healthy lifestyle. In this course, we will learn where our food comes from, how diet impacts our health, and what our individual diet choices mean within a global context. We will also learn practical tools and strategies to promote success in college and in life. | Myths and Legends of the Spanish World In this class we will discuss a variety of Spanish Myths and Legends. Does La Llorona live in the water ready to gobble up unsuspecting children? Will the Chupacabra ever be caught? What are the origins of these and other legends and what can we learn about the cultural/historical context in which they originated? How do they compare with other legends we are familiar with? In this course we will investigate legends and the countries where they first appeared, and develop a variety of academic skills to allow us to think critically about the connection between history, culture, and literature. Format will include reading, writing, discussion, and presentations. | Fantastical Futures and What They Teach Us Science fiction is a genre that explores not only a fantastical future or alternative present, but it also plays a pivotal role in critically examining our current societies. Through literature and film, we will investigate the larger questions of what it means to exist on earth today. How are science and technology shaping our societies? What are humanity's greatest challenges? What role can science fiction play in helping us understand our own communities and ourselves, and ultimately, what it means to be human?   |                             |         |            |                      |                        |            |          |

| Heroes and Villains: What does it mean to be a hero or a villain? We will consider both famous and obscure examples of unique individuals and their circumstances. Heroic stories can inspire us to be persistent and resilient in the face of trials, whereas stories of villains can serve as a warning and strengthen our resolve. What factors lead to an individual's success or failure? Various case studies will be examined relating to topics such as culture, opportunity, personality, genius, persistence, and achievement. This is an interdisciplinary course, primarily drawing from sociology, psychology and history. You will be able to develop practical tools to define your own personal and professional goals and determine how you can overcome obstacles to achieve your goals. | Idaho is considered the "whitewater playground" for river enthusiasts. The state boasts numerous whitewater river trips that are easily accessible for day or multiday trips. River adventures will provide an experience you will never forget. How you remember the trip completely depends on your planning, preparedness and appreciating the force of Mother Nature. Those who take the time to understand, respect and utilize the energy of the river will undoubtedly return time and again to create memories that last a lifetime. This course will compare the enthusiasm of whitewater rafting to the enthusiasm of higher education learning. Both fields require extensive research, planning, goal setting, mentoring, first-hand experience, support and navigation to have a positive, successful experience. Each concept of whitewater rafting preparation will parallel a concept of preparing for and being successful in college. | Media and Self: Shaping Our Beliefs Media sources are central to culture and contribute daily to our communication, socialization, and core beliefs. The "ubiquitous assimilation" of information characterizes the 21st Century. Our beliefs about gender, race, and the consumption of goods from food to clothing to dwellings are influenced by a constant stream of media messages, oftentimes without our conscious awareness. In this course, we will explore these messages and their desired effects and develop ways to discern truth from propaganda, effectively analyze media messages for function, intent and bias, and understand how this information contributes meaning to the lives of individuals and to society as a whole. | YOLO: Existing in the Modern World "You only live once" is a popular tag line of our modern society. While some say it just started with a rap song, Soren Kierkegaard, a dusty old Dane who lived more than 150 years ago, had some ideas that look remarkably like the phrase we use today. Through a study of some of his main themes of philosophy such as "passionate inwardness," "subjectivity," "the individual," and "the leap of faith," we will go on a cultural treasure hunt to see these very popular themes reflected in the movies, music, and short stories that are all around us. By the time you have finished this course, you will be able to decide for yourself if Kierkegaard was indeed the first one to claim YOLO. | Transformative Storytelling: Shift Your World ViewAngela Davis said, "You have to act as if it were possible to radically transform the world. And you have to do it all the time." What does it mean to transform the world? It's an idea you'll hear as you begin your college journey, and this class will examine what that transformation can look like. We'll start building our classroom community by telling the stories of ourselves and our people; we will connect with each other by listening, reflecting, and thinking critically about the stories we tell ourselves and the world around us. Students will share their voices through oral storytelling and creative writing, and examine what the world can look like when it's rooted in interdependence, resilience, and regeneration. | Modern Romance Find love and happiness in this class! In our modern world you need to have skills with mobile technology and the internet along with the communication tools to find your true love and win their heart. In this class we will develop the written and verbal communication skills used in romance. In this course, we will learn to learn from current research and your personal experiences to explore how to search for love and keep building true love from your continued learning that will last after the in-love experience has run its course. Moreover, we will learn how to "fight fair" making cultural connections in relationship and how to solve the problem of getting over someone without losing your cool. The college years are when many people meet their significant other. Additionally, there is a necessity in college to make and develop relationships that will use the same type of tools (yet not so intense) as do romantic relationships. With this class you'll better understand all relationships in general and specifically LOVE. You will come away with a game plan for success! | Reading and Navigating through Idaho Whitewater Idaho is considered the "whitewater playground" for river enthusiasts. The state boasts numerous whitewater river trips that are easily accessible for day or multiday trips. River adventures will provide an experience you will never forget. How you remember the trip completely depends on your planning, preparedness and appreciating the force of Mother Nature. Those who take the time to understand, respect and utilize the energy of the river will undoubtedly return time and again to create memories that last a lifetime. This course will compare the enthusiasm of whitewater rafting to the enthusiasm of higher education learning. Both fields require extensive research, planning, goal setting, mentoring, first-hand experience, support and navigation to have a positive, successful experience. Each concept of whitewater rafting preparation will parallel a concept of preparing for and being successful in college. | Scary Diseases: Understanding Epidemics &amp; New Diseases in Today's Society We are living in extraordinary times during this COVID-19 pandemic. Since March 2020, we have learned the meaning of 'social distancing', masks are in demand, and healthcare workers have become heroes. Up to 19 companies are racing to develop a vaccine. Have you wondered why social distancing became the new normal and why a vaccine will, hopefully, return society to normal? Is this pandemic worse than the Great Influenza of 1917 - 1918 or the Black Death? This CWI course will take a scientific look at historical pandemics and compare them to the current COVID-19 pandemic. We will also discuss attempts, successful and unsuccessful, at controlling disease. Students will learn thinking and learning strategies that will help them to be more confident students as well as to have a better understanding of science behind disease. | How Not to Die: Surviving the Extremes Why is it so hard to breathe at the top of Mt. Everest and why can't a scuba diver race to the surface from 90 feet underwater? We will explore those topics as well as the extreme survival conditions in the desert and out at sea. How does the human body adapt physiologically to maintain homeostasis when we are challenged to survive? Similarly, how can you survive and thrive as a college student? Let's explore all the ways to make smart decisions in conditions you will face in and out of a classroom. NOTE: Online sections of CWI are designed for students in fully online degrees. | You Are What You Eat: Exploring Our Relationships with Food This course explores the complicated relationship between humans and their diet, using Michael Pollan's The Omnivore's Dilemma as a guide. In 21st century America, we have nearly limitless choices about what to eat. But those choices come with hidden costs. What we choose to eat affects everything from our personal physical and mental health to our communities to the global environment. Our diet may reflect deeply held ethical or religious beliefs. It may indicate our economic status or our cultural background. Or it may represent a mindful choice designed to fuel a healthy lifestyle. In this course, we will learn where our food comes from, how diet impacts our health, and what our individual diet choices mean within a global context. We will also learn practical tools and strategies to promote success in college and in life. | The Backpacker's Guide to Life: Reaching Your School, Career, and Life Goals With the ultimate backpacking adventure, a climb of Mount Everest as its theme, this course explores the complicated relationship between humans and their interactions with nature and each other. How do setting our goals, sometimes too high (literally and figuratively) help or hinder our work and life relationships. We will research and discuss the dynamics of teamwork and working with others, recognizing the strengths and weaknesses of ourselves and those we are with. | What Are the Chances? Newspapers love to splash big headlines about death by shark, but did you realize that you are more likely to be killed by a statistician than by a shark? This topic will take a light-hearted but rigorous approach to probability, giving students the opportunity to exercise some simple mathematical operations while thinking about complex ideas. The theme will be approached from a variety of disciplines, looking not only at the mathematical concepts of probability, but also at its historical and philosophical underpinnings. Don't be afraid to sign up just because your math background is shaky! All calculations will be done with calculators, and nothing is more complex than simple addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. | Really Good Bad Guys From the beginning of western theatre, we see characters who think they are doing the right thing, but as an audience we can see their actions as evil or treacherous. In this CWI class students will look at plays and literature showcasing protagonists with fatal, tragic flaws that turn "good guys" into "bad guys." We will be exploring how the ideas of a hero/antihero in theatre and in modern entertainment has shifted and how our own perceptions of what a protagonist should be has changed drastically in the last one hundred years. While learning about how the role and expectations of a hero have changed over time, students will also be learning strategies for being successful learners in college and beyond. | Fake News in the Real World Is your news fake? When information is available on demand in every imaginable format, how can you tell what's credible and what's made up to influence, mislead, or make a buck? In this class we will apply a critical thinking lens to the way we evaluate and share information as a foundation for how we understand the world around us. From fake news to satire, biased reporting, editorial, and fact-based journalism, we will learn about the different types of news sources and their roles in informing or misinforming readers. We will further explore the way human psychology, social media, and the "echo chamber" effect contribute to the fake news phenomenon. This is an interdisciplinary course drawing primarily from information science, media studies, and psychology. You will learn practical strategies for assessing and evaluating everyday information, whether to write a paper, buy a car, understand a medical condition, or decide how to vote in the next election. | TED-CWI: Lessons Worth Learning TED, which stands for Technology, Entertainment, and Design, is an organization famous for its "ideas worth sharing" in the form of 20-minute video presentations. Many are familiar with TED Talks and have probably watched a few, such as (insert example of popular talk?). TED uses ideas to inspire change in attitudes, lives, and ultimately, the world. Using Ted Talks and Ted-Ed(ucation) as our platform, this course will provide strategies to be successful in college while simultaneously sparking and celebrating your own ideas about learning and how to apply those ideas to your education. The final project of this course will allow you to showcase your innovation and skills through the creation of your own TED-Ed Lesson on student success skills. NOTE: Online sections of CWI are designed for students in fully online degrees. Students who are taking any face-to-face classes should select a face-to-face or hybrid section of CWI.  |                                  |         |            |                      |                     |            |          |

| Using Design Thinking to Build a Life You Love Many of us want to be creative and often work to find creative outlets, but most people have yet to examine how to use the creative process purposefully. This course will focus on applying design thinking to harness our creativity and make it part of a process we can use to achieve important things and tackle challenges. Design thinking is-as discussed in the book Designing Your Life: How to Live a Well-Lived, Joyful Life-a method of solving difficult and complex problems through thinking creatively and testing ideas. We will focus on how to use design thinking to build possibilities for your future education, career, and life. | Fantastical Futures and What They Teach Us Science fiction is a genre that explores not only a fantastical future or alternative present, but it also plays a pivotal role in critically examining our current societies. Through literature and film, we will investigate the larger questions of what it means to exist on earth today. How are science and technology shaping our societies? What are humanity's greatest challenges? What role can science fiction play in helping us understand our own communities and ourselves, and ultimately, what it means to be human? | Modern Romance Find love and happiness in this class! In our modern world you need to have skills with mobile technology and the internet along with the communication tools to find your true love and win their heart. In this class we will develop the written and verbal communication skills used in romance. In this course, we will learn to learn from current research and your personal experiences to explore how to search for love and keep building true love from your continued learning that will last after the in-love experience has run its course. Moreover, we will learn how to "fight fair" making cultural connections in relationship and how to solve the problem of getting over someone without losing your cool. The college years are when many people meet their significant other. Additionally, there is a necessity in college to make and develop relationships that will use the same type of tools (yet not so intense) as do romantic relationships. With this class you'll better understand all relationships in general and specifically LOVE. You will come away with a game plan for success! Whether American WWE-style, Japanese puroresu, or Mexican lucha libre, professional wrestling explores age-old tales through the theatrical combat of the "squared circle." In this course, students will explore professional wrestling as a lens for understanding culture. Specific focus will be placed on fan culture, the connection between wrestling styles and cultural values, and the role masculinity plays in all of it. Part wrestling history class, part cultural studies course, "CWI 101: Wrestling with Culture" will guide students through their first semester at CWI while providing them with the tools to better understand the role culture plays in our entertainment. By virtually traveling the world, learning about world cultures through their mythology, music, geography, religion, literature, and food. As we critically analyze how a culture operates, we will reflect on the diversity of the world and the connections that draw us together as a global community. We will consider how the world operates while understanding how we, as CWI students, can operate in our local community. We will discover and utilize our campus resources and engage in the community around us. We will finish the semester by creating a blueprint for our own individual culture and our place in the world. | Heroes and Villains: What does it mean to be a hero or a villain? We will consider both famous and obscure examples of unique individuals and their circumstances. Heroic stories can inspire us to be persistent and resilient in the face of trials, whereas stories of villains can serve as a warning and strengthen our resolve. What factors lead to an individual's success or failure? Various case studies will be examined relating to topics such as culture, opportunity, personality, genius, persistence, and achievement. This is an interdisciplinary course, primarily drawing from sociology, psychology and history. You will be able to develop practical tools to define your own personal and professional goals and determine how you can overcome obstacles to achieve your goals. | Nampa CampusYou Are What You Eat: Exploring Our Relationships with Food This course explores the complicated relationship between humans and their diet, using Michael Pollan's The Omnivore's Dilemma as a guide. In 21st century America, we have nearly limitless choices about what to eat. But those choices come with hidden costs. What we choose to eat affects everything from our personal physical and mental health to our communities to the global environment. Our diet may reflect deeply held ethical or religious beliefs. It may indicate our economic status or our cultural background. Or it may represent a mindful choice designed to fuel a healthy lifestyle. In this course, we will learn where our food comes from, how diet impacts our health, and what our individual diet choices mean within a global context. We will also learn practical tools and strategies to promote success in college and in life. And you have to do it all the time." What does it mean to transform the world? It's an idea you'll hear as you begin your college journey, and this class will examine what that transformation can look like. We'll start building our classroom community by telling the stories of ourselves and our people; we will connect with each other by listening, reflecting, and thinking critically about the stories we tell ourselves and the world around us. Students will share their voices through oral storytelling and creative writing, and examine what the world can look like when it's rooted in interdependence, resilience, and regeneration. | Be the Author of Your Life Story Do you love stories? If you do, you're in good company! Stories have fascinated humans for thousands of years; guidance, enlightenment, and inspiration await us there. But what about the most important story you will ever encounter: the story of your own life? Is your life story one of power and accomplishment or one of confusion and impotence? Is that story soundly plotted or does it muddle along unguided? Is it written well, so that you and others can benefit from it? Most importantly, who is the author of your life story? Are you its plot master or is someone else penning the words while you just try to keep up? In this class, we will explore what story is, how stories are constructed, and what makes a story good. By sharing a few great stories we will buttress our understanding. And you will write a story of your own life - both the past you have already lived and the potential you want to fulfill. Join us, pick up the pen, enhance your literary and academic skills, and become the author of your own success at CWI and beyond! | What Are the Chances? Newspapers love to splash big headlines about death by shark, but did you realize that you are more likely to be killed by a statistician than by a shark? This topic will take a light-hearted but rigorous approach to probability, giving students the opportunity to exercise some simple mathematical operations while thinking about complex ideas. The theme will be approached from a variety of disciplines, looking not only at the mathematical concepts of probability, but also at its historical and philosophical underpinnings. Don't be afraid to sign up just because your math background is shaky! All calculations will be done with calculators, and nothing is more complex than simple addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. | Modern Romance Find love and happiness in this class! In our modern world you need to have skills with mobile technology and the internet along with the communication tools to find your true love and win their heart. In this class we will develop the written and verbal communication skills used in romance. In this course, we will learn to learn from current research and your personal experiences to explore how to search for love and keep building true love from your continued learning that will last after the in-love experience has run its course. Moreover, we will learn how to "fight fair" making cultural connections in relationship and how to solve the problem of getting over someone without losing your cool. The college years are when many people meet their significant other. Additionally, there is a necessity in college to make and develop relationships that will use the same type of tools (yet not so intense) as do romantic relationships. With this class you'll better understand all relationships in general and specifically LOVE. You will come away with a game plan for success! | Idaho Authors and the West Course content will deal with the American West. The American West conjures images of cowboys and outlaws, gold mines and uncharted wilderness, Wild West shows and Hollywood, vast, empty spaces and suburban sprawl. It has long been viewed as rugged territory where the hearty, the visionary, and the brave can claim fortune, freedom, and fame. It is a land as much myth as reality, full of contradiction and complexity. Literature has played its role creating, perpetuating, and debunking these myths. This course will introduce you to various Idaho writers and their writings. Through their fiction, non-fiction, and poetry-much of it set in the state of Idaho, we will explore the ever-changing West and analyze its many meanings. How do these writers and writings envision the West, and how do these visions fit with your own, as a College of Western Idaho student? Inspired by what we read, we will use our own Western experiences as material for the newest wave of Idaho-authored stories, memoirs, and poems. | Heroes and Villains What does it mean to be a hero or a villain? We will consider both famous and obscure examples of unique individuals and their circumstances. Heroic stories can inspire us to be persistent and resilient in the face of trials, whereas stories of villains can serve as a warning and strengthen our resolve. What factors lead to an individual's success or failure? Various case studies will be examined relating to topics such as culture, opportunity, personality, genius, persistence, and achievement. This is an interdisciplinary course, primarily drawing from sociology, psychology and history. You will be able to develop practical tools to define your own personal and professional goals and determine how you can overcome obstacles to achieve your goals. | Be the Author of Your Life Story Do you love stories? If you do, you're in good company! Stories have fascinated humans for thousands of years; guidance, enlightenment, and inspiration await us there. But what about the most important story you will ever encounter, the story of your own life? Is your life story one of power and accomplishment or one of confusion and impotence? Is that story soundly plotted or does it muddle along unguided? Is it written well, so that you and others can benefit from it? Most importantly, who is the author of your life story? Are you its plot master or is someone else penning the words while you just try to keep up? In this class, we will explore what story is, how stories are constructed, and what makes a story good. By sharing a few great stories we will buttress our understanding. And you will write a story of your own life - both the past you have already lived and the potential you want to fulfill. Join us, pick up the pen, enhance your literary and academic skills, and become the author of your own success at CWI and beyond! | You Are What You Eat: Exploring Our Relationships with Food This course explores the complicated relationship between humans and their diet, using Michael Pollan's The Omnivore's Dilemma as a guide. In 21st century America, we have nearly limitless choices about what to eat. But those choices come with hidden costs. What we choose to eat affects everything from our personal physical and mental health to our communities to the global environment. Our diet may reflect deeply held ethical or religious beliefs. It may indicate our economic status or our cultural background. Or it may represent a mindful choice designed to fuel a healthy lifestyle. In this course, we will learn where our food comes from, how diet impacts our health, and what our individual diet choices mean within a global context. We will also learn practical tools and strategies to promote success in college and in life. | OnlineTED-CWI: Lessons Worth Learning TED, which stands for Technology, Entertainment, and Design, is an organization famous for its "ideas worth sharing" in the form of 20-minute video presentations. Many are familiar with TED Talks and have probably watched a few, such as (insert example of popular talk?). TED uses ideas to inspire change in attitudes, lives, and ultimately, the world. Using Ted Talks and Ted-Ed(ucation) as our platform, this course will provide strategies to be successful in college while simultaneously sparking and celebrating your own ideas about learning and how to apply those ideas to your education. The final project of this course will allow you to showcase your innovation and skills through the creation of your own TED-Ed Lesson on student success skills. | Media and the Art of Lying Media and advertising companies pour millions of dollars into video content designed to engage and entice viewers. Are the designers' tactics sincere and honest? Or is there another side to this explosion of video content? What is the real effect of media on our thoughts and decisions? This course will take a look at the methods used to sell the individual and society products and ideas. Students will learn to analyze and evaluate various types of media and become more conscious viewers. Ultimately participants will learn how to make educated decisions and to use those same analytical skills to be more successful in college. | OnlineFake News in the Real World Is your news fake? When information is available on demand in every imaginable format, how can you tell what's credible and what's made up to influence, mislead, or make a buck? In this class we will apply a critical thinking lens to the way we evaluate and share information as a foundation for how we understand the world around us. From fake news to satire, biased reporting, editorial, and fact-based journalism, we will learn about the different types of news sources and their roles in informing or misinforming readers. We will further explore the way human psychology, social media, and the "echo chamber" effect contribute to the fake news phenomenon. This is an interdisciplinary course drawing primarily from information science, media studies, and psychology. You will learn practical strategies for assessing and evaluating everyday information, whether to write a paper, buy a car, understand a medical condition, or decide how to vote in the next election. | Media and Self: Shaping Our Beliefs Media sources are central to culture and contribute daily to our communication, socialization, and core beliefs. The "ubiquitous assimilation" of information characterizes the 21st Century. Our beliefs about gender, race, and the consumption of good from food to clothing to dwellings are influenced by a constant stream of media messages, oftentimes without our conscious awareness. In this course, we will explore these messages and their desired effects and develop ways to discern truth from propaganda, effectively analyze media messages for function, intent and bias, and understand how this information contributes meaning to the lives of individuals and to society as a whole. | The Dead and the Undead Do you love The Walking Dead? Do you know how you would survive a zombie apocalypse? Are you obsessed with Dracula or Twilight? Have you ever thought about why we love zombies and vampires? This course will examine our fascination with zombies and vampires and what that reveals about our culture and ourselves. We will also look at traditions and beliefs surrounding death, particularly in American culture, but also throughout the world. Examining our cultural beliefs about death and our fascination with the undead will lead to examining other parts of our culture through a more critical lens, which will benefit students in all parts of their education, regardless of their primary area of study. This course will culminate in students showcasing analysis and research on a zombie specific area of interest. NOTE: Online sections of CWI are designed for students in fully online degrees. Students who are taking any face-to-face classes should select a face-to-face or hybrid section of CWI. |                              |         |            |                      |                        |            |          |  |

| Beyond the Academy Awards: Movies and Culture Most Americans, by the time they're eighteen, have watched more than a thousand movies. They can quote lines from Batman Returns and sing the entire sound track from Frozen. But do movies simply reflect our culture, or are they much more powerful, influencing the way we think, the choices we make, and how other people treat us? The purpose of this class is to examine these questions using a variety of contemporary American films, both narrative and documentary, as records of social attitudes and as a means for self-reflection and decision-making. | Language and Identity How literate are you? What parts of your life does literacy affect? What role does a person's speech and writing play in first impressions and stereotypes? Does your lexicon determine whether or not you get a job? A date? Should it? What causes linguistic stereotypes, such as French being the language of love and German the language of war? These questions and more will be addressed through movies, social media and literature. We will explore how the basic building blocks of language affect communication and how language and culture impacts a person's identity and their perspective of the world. Students will learn how an awareness of language and identity can help them to better navigate and participate in a multilingual world.
