Media and the Art of Lying Media and advertising companies pour millions of dollars into video content designed to engage and entice viewers. Are the designers' tactics sincere and honest? Or is there another side to this explosion of video content? What is the real effect of media on our thoughts and decisions? This course will take a look at the methods used to sell the individual and society products and ideas. Students will learn to analyze and evaluate various types of media and become more conscious viewers. Ultimately participants will learn how to make more-educated decisions and to use those same analytical skills to be more successful in college. CWID-101-003	CWID: ID Wild West: Writ/Myth	3	Tue,Thu	Lecture	Nicholas, David	6/5/17	7/29/17
Ada County Campus Idaho's Wild West: Idaho Writers and Western Myths and Stereotypes The American West conjures images of cowboys and outlaws, gold mines and uncharted wilderness, Wild West shows and Hollywood, vast, empty spaces and suburban sprawl. It has long been viewed as rugged territory where the hearty, the visionary, and the brave can claim fortune, freedom, and fame. It is a land as much myth as reality, full of contradiction and complexity. Literature has played its role creating, perpetuating, and debunking these myths. This course will introduce you to various Idaho writers and their writings. Through their fiction and non-fiction-much of it set in the state of Idaho, we will explore the ever-changing West and analyze its many meanings. How do these writers and stories envision the West, and how do these visions fit with your own, as a College of Western Idaho student? CWID-101-005	CWID: Understanding Wealth	3	M,W	Lecture	Camp, Roya	6/5/17	7/29/17
Ada County Campus Understanding Wealth This course equips students for college through the history, context, and modern reference points of capital as it moves through their lives. The origins of money, modern myths about wealth, disparities between and among groups, genders, ages, and cultures, taboos, vices, principles, manias, and more will be explored, allowing students to begin to build a values structure and personal concepts around worth, priorities, and reliance on self and others. Students will come away having participated in robust dialogue around money and will have an opportunity to explore realistic dimensions of wealth and value, and the chance to construct a perspective on assets that can serve them reliably throughout their lives. CWID-101-007W	CWID: Humor and Ameri Culture	3		On-Line	Newberry, Christina	6/5/17	7/29/17
Online Humor and American Culture "Good satire goes beyond the specific point it's trying to make and teaches you how to think critically. Even after your favorite cartoonist retires or [Stephen] Colbert wraps it up, you're not left believing everything they're telling you." -Aaron McGruder, creator of "The Boondocks" In this course we will examine satirical works such as The Daily Show, The Onion, and South Park to think critically about American culture and to explore important moments and transitions in our history as well as in current events. We will analyze the impact of these works on us as media consumers-how do they change the way we think about our culture and events? Why do so many Americans get their news from humorists instead of or in addition to traditional news outlets? Why does an Onion article prompt us to think about an issue in a way that a New York Times article doesn't? To answer these questions, we will examine satire as a literary genre and art form in political cartoons, film, journalism, television, and social media. Cryptography: Secret and Not-So-Secret Codes Throughout history, cryptography has evolved from messages written on the shaved heads of servants to highly robust computer encryption. In this course, we will examine the history of cryptography, study several cryptosystems, and practice techniques for cracking those cryptosystems. In addition, we will be examining our current level of dependence on cryptography, for instance, in our banking systems and cell phones. The mathematics required to understand and implement these cryptosystems is the equivalent of four years of high school mathematics. This class is designed to appeal to both history and math/science buffs alike!
